Village Represented at ICC Hearing Tuesday by Jim McMillen, Ed Vos

Both Denied Opportunity to Tell Desires of This Community

Mayor James McMillen representing the village, and Ed Vos, the Lions club, attended the hearing of the Interstate Commerce commission on the petition of the Cardinal Lines to extend service from Antioch to Lake Geneva, Wis., and Burlington at Chicago Tuesday morning.

More than 50 persons were in the audience ready to testify as to the desirability of the added service for this community, but only a few were called to the stand.

Lake Villa was represented by William Walker and John Summers, but they were not called.

Mayor McMillen said that the lawyer for competing lines who opposed the grant of a franchise to the Cardinal Lines tried to narrow testimony to only those who wanted the service for their own use. Persons like the representatives of the Antioch groups should have no voice as such, the lawyer maintained, and he kept his questions entirely on their needs as individuals, while they were on the witness stand.

What the commission has decided will not be known until later.

Vos said there were some of his acquaintances from Burlington, Wis., at the meeting who were anxious for service between that town and Antioch. A Burlington-Fox Lake line is sought as well as the Burlington-Antioch line.

A line between Lake Geneva and Fox Lake as well as from Lake Geneva to Antioch also is asked.

Sunnyhill Farm to Sell 65 Head of Holsteins At Auction on Monday

Sixty-five head of fine Holstein dairy cattle of the Rag Apple line will be sold at auction at the Armour Sunnyhill farm, five miles west of Antioch starting at 1 p. m. Monday, Sept. 25.

The herd was started five years ago by Laurence Armour, the owner and has been developed by Edward Stoltz who supervised and managed it for the past four years. The Sunnyhill herd led the testing association in 1949 with a 470 pound fat average on twice a day milking. Cattle from Sunnyhill have also been important contributors to the Lake county and state Black and White shows for the past two years.

In May of this year the highest priced female in the Ravenslen sale went to Sunnyhill farm at $7,200, as did five of her good granddaughters.

The herd will be on view to visitors Saturday afternoon.

Social Security Agent Wants Interview Here With Old Age Claimants

Mr. Bernard Barnett, Manager of the Waukegan, Illinois social security office will be at the Postoffice in Antioch, Illinois from 9:00 a. m. to 10:00 a. m. Wednesday, Sept. 27. He especially wants to see people over whose claims for old age insurance payments were previously rejected because of insufficient periods of work on jobs covered under the social security law.

Under the amended law, a worker over 65 years of age needs only six quarters of coverage acquired after 1936 to be eligible for benefits. Mr. Barnett urges these people to come to the Postoffice in Antioch between 9:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m. Wednesday, Sept. 27 and file new claims for old age benefits under the new law.

Mr. Barnett also calls attention to the provision in the amended law permitting greater earnings to retired workers who are insured. Under the new social security law, a retired worker may have cash earnings in covered employment up to $50.00 a month and still accept his benefit payment for that month. Heretofore he was restricted to $14.00 a month cash wages from such work. If the beneficiary is over 75 there are no restrictions on the amount of his earnings in any kind of employment.

Illinois Residents Get Hour Back They Lost In Change to DS Time

You may sleep an hour longer Sunday.

That hour that Illinois people lost when daylight saving time went into effect last spring will be returned Sunday. Time will be changed at 2 a. m., but you need not stay up to that early hour just to make the change. Just turn the clock back one hour when you retire.

In spite of this notice there will be some who will be an hour early to Sunday church service, or on the other hand those who usually are late for service will be on time.

Warning—Delegate the clock changing to one person in the family. Otherwise with all members anxious for the chance there may be confusion.

Legion and Auxiliary Will Install Officers in Joint Meeting Tonight

William Sigler, new 10th district commander and his staff will install officers of the Antioch American Legion post this evening in a joint installation with the Auxiliary unit. The Auxiliary will install its officers first, starting at 8 p. m. Those who will be installed are Mrs. Mary Ellis, president; DeLia Jahneke, first vice president; Miss Alice Fox, second vice president; Mrs. Sadie Keeney, treasurer; Mrs. Lucy Himmens, secretary; Mrs. Myra Randall, historian; and Mrs. John Braby, chaplain.

Ed Jahneke, retiring commander of the Legion, listed the new officers of the men's unit to take up duties at this time as:

Harold Christensen, commander; W. V. Lahti, senior commander; O. I. Onstad, junior vice commander; R. E. Ehrigott, chaplain; Ben F. Miller, finance officer; Floyd Horton, service officer; Leslie Heath, adjutant; and Roman Vos, Bogardus officer.

Refreshments will be served after the installation.

Clinton Varieties of Oats Still Best for Lake County Mundelein Test Plot Shows

Although the Cherokee variety of oats had the heaviest yield among the 10 varieties tested at the farm of L. A. Huebsch, Mundelein, this year, the Clinton varieties are still best bets for Lake county farmers, Ray T. Nicholas, farm adviser said. Cherokee yielded 79.6 bushels an acre but the stems broke on the other hand. Clinton No. 59, an Indiana product, yielded 77.8 bushels with a good stand.

Beaver with 77.6 and Nemaha with 77.3 bushels were next in rank, but as to lodging both leaned slightly.

The Illinois variety of Clinton (No. 11) had a good stand and produced 76.5 bushels an acre.

Andrews lodged badly but produced 75.9; Mohawk with the slightly lower production of 75.5 bushels had a good stand but Mindow at 74.8 had but a fair stand. Good stands were recorded for Bonda and Eaton with 68 and 65.7 bushels yield respectively.

Kindergarten Teacher Added to Take Care of Enrollment of Fifty-two

The kindergarten of the Antioch grade school became so large that it was necessary to divide the morning session group into two sections with Mrs. E. W. Kufalk serving as an additional teacher, Principal Richard Whitacre announced.

One class will use the stage room or play out of doors while the other uses the regular class room. There are 52 pupils.

Receipt of 4,000 gallons of oil with installation of the new boiler today brings heat to the east building just as cool weather sets in.

Principal Whitacre said that so long as the children play out of doors until 9 a. m. and warm themselves and their rooms until the sun provided heat, there is no problem, but with the return of standard time next week and the chill of sundown appearing a problem would be created if heat were not available.

The school's enrollment is now 362.

Plumbing on the new building is nearly completed and the heating apparatus is nearly three-fourths installed. Installation of windows is started, and some work has been done on the sidewalks and grading. Plastering is the next big problem.

Jean Pagels on Dean's List at State Normal

Normal, Ill.—A new way of recognizing scholastic achievement among students at Illinois State Normal university has been announced by Dr. Arthur H. Larsen, dean of the university.

A list of students with grades no lower than B will be published each semester hereafter. Known as "The Dean's List," it will emphasize the fact that there are students with good scholastic averages other than those honored at Commencement and at the annual Honors Day Convocation, which recognizes seniors in the upper three per cent of their class. Jean Pagels, junior, of Grass Lake rd., Antioch is on the first list.

Vote Down Tax Increase

Lake Villa—A proposal to increase the tax of school district 130 which sends its students to Grant Township High school on a tuition basis was defeated Monday 94 to 71. The district raises but $11,000 whereas the costs of transporting and educating the students is $16,500. The board will meet this week to study future action because Grant can refuse to accept the students.

The Great Harvest of 1950

Charles E. Cobb, 91, Resort Owner, Dies at Home on Lake Marie

Charles E. Cobb, 91, one of Antioch's oldest resort owners passed away at his home at Lake Marie Tuesday, September 19, following a lingering illness. He was born March 8, 1859 at Quebec, Canada and for the past sixty-five years had made his home at Lake Marie. On December 19, 1888 he was united in marriage with Miss Johanna Yopp, celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary December 1938. He was owner and operator of Cobb's Camp since 1914.

Survivors include four sons, Andrew, Ray, Oliver and Edward, all of Antioch; a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Miller of Maitland, Florida; ten grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Alma Fletcher, Anaheim, California and Mrs. Emma Parker, Watertown, New York.

Rescue Squad Objects To Providing Ambulance Where No Emergency

The Antioch Rescue squad wants it known that it does not provide ambulance service.

Identified as a first aid organization seeking to save life, it may, and often does, take injured and emergency sick cases to distant hospitals, but it is not licensed to provide transportation to hospitals to those who have been ill for some time.

"We operate as an emergency squad, and are willing to go anywhere at any time for such service," said Capt. Herman Holbek. "We cannot, however, take time from our work to provide every kind of ambulance service."

Capt. Holbek said that there have been calls in which persons with ailments of long standing have asked to be taken when they could have been taken in a private car or by private ambulance.

"We are not licensed to provide ambulance service, and might easily get in trouble if we were to attempt it," said Holbek.

The squad captain said that it would be regrettable if the squad were to be away on an ambulance call and it would be needed for a real emergency. He said that employers of some of the men have been quite considerate in allowing them to be off duty for emergency work, but that it is asking too much for absence from work merely to provide a transportation for the sick who could get other type of transportation.

"Let's keep the rescue squad available for that which it is intended—first aid, and rescue work," he commented.

Sells Registered Bull

Brattleboro, Vt.—Lawrence Armour, Antioch, recently sold a registered Holstein-Friesian bull to Roger F. Sherman, Richmond, Ill. Change of ownership for this animal, "Sunnyhill Hartog Bessie," has been officially recorded by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Amateur Radio Stations Prove Ability in Test, For Emergency Purpose

Mayor McMillen Receives Message From City Hall Chicago

A chain of forty-two amateur radio stations in automobiles, participated in the first simulated disaster emergency relay between Chicago and Antioch, Mayor Jim McMillen announced.

Two messages were successfully passed from car to car and the answers from Antioch were returned to Chicago's city hall. The relay could have been accomplished with fewer cars, but the plan was to tie in as many communities as possible, indicating that even with a complete failure of the power service and telephone lines, communication between our Lake towns and Chicago would be maintained.

Mayor McMillen and Fire Chief Edgar Simonsen were in the Antioch control car operated by Bob Adams of Grass Lake.

Similar equipped cars in neighboring locations on the relay were: Round Lake, Chuck Bereski; Wauconda, Herb Hartley; Lake Zurich, Wally Wisnoski; Grayslake, Donald Long, etc.

The messages were as follows: Msg. No. 1 from Chicago, Check 9, Sept. 18, 1950 time 8:23 p. m. To Radio W9sm. Advise number radio cars available for emergency disaster service. Signed W9ING.

Answer: Msg. No. 3 from Antioch, Check 9, Sept. 18, 1950 time 9:12 P. M. To Radio W9ING. Re Msg. No. 1 we have nine mobiles ready. Signed Adams W9SM.

Msg. No. 2 from Chicago, Ck. 31 Sept. 18, 1950 time 8:27 P. M. To Mayor Jim McMillen, Antioch, Illinois. Thank you and the many amateur operators participating in this mobilization for your cooperation. We request your suggestions for increasing the public value of this radio network in time of disaster. Les Tanner, Emergency Coordinator

Answer: Msg. No. 4 From Antioch, Ill. Ck. Sept. 18, 1950, time 9:16 P. M. To Les Tanner, W9ING, Chicago. We are happy to participate in this initial emergency relay and promise our full cooperation in future activities. We are organizing a communication unit. Jim McMillen, Mayor.

World War II Vets Still Can Apply for Benefits Regardless of Waiver

Veterans of World War II, who at the time of discharge from military service, signed statements waiving the right to file for disability benefits were advised today that such action does not prevent them from applying now.

The Illinois Veterans Commission pointed out that many veterans believe they are not entitled to compensation because of the fact that a disability existed prior to entry into service.

Compensation is payable both for disabilities incurred in service and also for prior disabilities that were "aggravated" by military service. Final determination is based on the evidence on file.

Service officers of the IVC are ready to assist veterans in properly preparing evidence and application for disability compensation at any of the 70 offices located throughout the state.

In Lake county veterans can receive assistance from the IVC service office at 228 North Genesee St. in Waukegan.

Physicians Invited To Meet Sept. 27 To Talk Hospital

Conference at Scout House May Reveal Way to Solution

A meeting of physicians in the Antioch area has been called for 11 a. m. Wednesday, Sept. 27 at the Scout home for a discussion of ways and means of obtaining a hospital for this community.

The Antioch News is extending invitations to physicians in Antioch, Fox Lake, Lake Villa, Round Lake, Grayslake, Spring Grove, Ill.; and Silver Lake, Wis., and intervening points to attend this meeting and take part in the discussion.

Suggestions as to the type and nature of the hospital desired, and possible procedures that may be followed in obtaining it will be offered by some who have been studying the proposal.

There have been favorable response on every hand to the articles in the Antioch News showing the need of a hospital for this community.

There was one criticism and that was that the attitude of the patient has been left out in each article. Those who have been hauled to and from Waukegan and Kenosha hospital while desperately ill say they are more enthusiastic than anyone else in asserting the need of a hospital closer home.

"You write about the doctor having to go so far to see his patients, and the relatives having to go so far to see the sick, why not take into consideration that long ride of the patient to and from the hospital," one local citizen remarked.

Day by day the need of the hospital here becomes more imperative and when the doctors meet next Wednesday it is probable that the discussion of the desirability of a hospital of some kind will not need so much discussion.

Sheriff's Squad Finds "Gunman" Is Cook Co. Policeman

Rumors were current here Tuesday evening and Wednesday concerning the capture of three desperate gunmen late Tuesday night. According to reports of no less than seven observers, the three men had staged a stick-up on a car or a truck on Skokie highway early Tuesday evening and had escaped in a yellow Ford car. One of the persons who told your reporter about the story commented on the foolishness of using a loud, easily noticed car.

According to reports, the men had proceeded from the stick-up to Antioch, where they parked the car on Main street. Subsequently, the person who was robbed detected the car parked here, by remembering the license number, and called the Lake County sheriff. The sheriff immediately dispatched a squad to lay in wait for the robbers to pick up the car.

The story as reported by one person who claimed to be an eye witness, went on to relate that three squads were on duty as well as many policemen on foot. When the bold, bad robbers appeared, one exceptionally brave member of the sheriff's squad approached the car in which the "robbers" were seated, called the driver a dirty name, and extended his hand for the "rod". The gunman then tenderly placed the weapon in his hand and meekly went off to the jail house.

In contrast to this fairy tale, which is not exceptional as fairy tales go, are the facts. Here's just what happened:

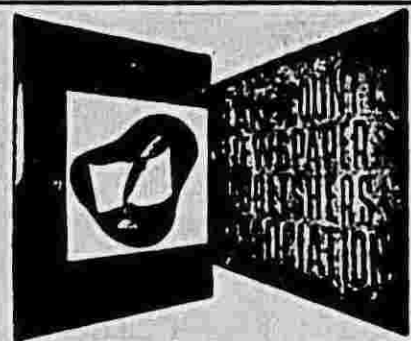

Two motorists, both going in the same direction, were held up behind a school bus. One of the drivers observed the state law which prohibits passing a school bus stopped for loading or unloading children. The other driver passed the bus, and was later stopped by the first driver, when an argument ensued. One of the drivers observed a pistol in the other man's car and immediately called the sheriff. A sheriff's squad was dispatched to Antioch for investigation. Report of the squad was that the man who had the revolver was a deputy of the Cook County sheriff's office and had every right to have the weapon in his possession.

Thus ends a beautiful story.

Economic Highlights

Possibly one good reason for hesitancy on Russia's part to attack this country directly is the unquestionable certainty that the Kremlin knows the extent of American industrial capacity far better than the average American. Following are reports of leaders in key industries:

Steel: "Today we have more capacity than all the rest of the world put together. Since the last war started, we have built as much new steel capacity as existed in Germany when that war began. This excess capacity is sufficient to meet the present demand." Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co.

Rubber: "Today we have not one but two raw materials—natural and synthetic rubber. Before World War II we could turn 85,000 tons of rubber into finished products each month. Now we can process 110,000 tons a month. Before World War II our industry had about 150,000 employees. Today, we have over 200,000." Harry E. Humphreys, Jr., president of United States Rubber Co.

Oil: "There is no need for rationing, even if military demand expands substantially from present levels. Since the end of the last war, the petroleum industry has increased its capacity by more than 25 percent." Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana).

Electric Power: "Right now the electric utility industry has one-third more generating capacity than at the end of the last war, and by the end of 1953 will have three-quarters more" Louis V. Sutton, president of the Carolina Power & Light Co.

Textiles: "With cotton and synthetic-fiber textile production far ahead of last year, there will be plenty of clothing available in the coming months. Total output of broad woven goods made of cotton is expected to exceed last year's production by 1,500,000-2,000,000 square yards." Donald Comer, chairman of the board of Avondale Mills.

Machine Tools: "The industry has far larger capacity than at the start of the second war and could be expanded to meet twice the present demand." Charles J. Stilwell, president of Warner & Swasey Co.

Food: "There is absolutely no reason for panic buying of foods. We have a more abundant supply on hand than ever before." Morris Sayre, president of the Corn Products Refining Co.

In response to queries of officials charged with the task of insuring the nation's security, American industry has virtually said to the government, "Tell us what you want—we can fill the order."

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

The Big Chief of the census was here at Hickory recent-like. He was touring the nation—having a nice time too, I reckon. The weather was nice. And what do you suppose he told us. Told us that the census shows that "people are moving from the cities and crowded spots to the country." Yep, that is what the man said. Just as though everybody—man or woman—hadn't known same, and for years.

Now folks I am commentin' on this little newsy item so you can kinda guess what we are getting for our tax money. It is a fair sample. A sample of the unneeded things we are paying for—thousands it has cost to build that folks prefer the country to the city. Oh me!

There are one million persons on Sambo's payroll doing even more useless more unneeded, also more harmful things than this census man and his sashaying up and down and across the land. It is time for a rising up—little people, big people, middle size people. The Govt., is far and away too big, too expensive, too busy carrying on unneeded and harmful projects of a 1000 kinds—including Socialism in many garbs.

For study by literary clubs and hungry lunch clubs, far and wide, here is a place to uncover some fummiddles. When you have done so, hang a lantern aloft. Don't be a shrink violet—talk right out—tell the citizens.

The old blot on Wilmot high school's football record last year was a 13-7 defeat dealt by Elkhorn in a non-conference game as the Kenosha county preps won the Southeastern conference championship. That stigma was belatedly wiped away Friday evening as the Red and White eleven surged to an 8-0 win over the Walworth county foe at Wilmot. Wilmot is now looking ahead to Saturday night's tuneup against St. Mary's in Burlington. It will be the first football rivalry between these scores. All the scoring in Friday night's game was in the second quarter. Wilmot took the kickoff on its own 45 yard and moved uninterrupted to the two line stripe from where Norm Epping plunged for the score. Several of Coach Bucci's boys rolled up 12 first downs to five. Danny Survilla, end, and Francis Milner, 200 pound tackle, were defensive stars with Survilla as also valuable on offense with his pass. In the backfield, Earl Hennessy, quarterback, and Bob Bohn halfback gave the Elkhorn team a rough evening.

SHORT STORY

Farm Girls

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

BEULAH and Candida had met in the New York office of Mortimer and Brown, attorneys. They became fast friends because they found something in common. That something was a desire to live on a farm in the country.

They talked about it incessantly. Then Beulah came through with the great idea.

"Let's work hard and save for a year. Then let's pool our resources, make a down payment on a small farm and—live there!"

"But we don't know a thing about farming. We've both lived in the city all our lives. We couldn't make it pay."

"We could," Beulah said. "If we wanted to badly enough. There are books on how to do everything these days."

So for a year the two girls worked and saved. They spent evenings on end at the library reading books on small scale farming.

"But we don't know anything about farming," Candida said. "We've both lived in the city all our lives."

When spring came they drove up into the country and called on the farmers who had offered their homes for sale. The second place they visited proved exactly what they wanted. It was a small, white, tree-shaded house with a big barn, a hen-nery containing a flock of 100 birds, a cow, a horse, a pig and several cultivated acres.

It was a swell idea. Best of all, they made a profit. The enterprise would likely have developed into something lasting, had it not been for Barnaby Xerxes.

He was a radio singer, suffering from a nervous breakdown. He had come to Hillside to recuperate. Beulah met him one day on a deserted section of country road. He was walking and she gave him a lift back to town in the delivery truck.

BEULAH was thrilled. During the days that followed she hated going off evenings and leaving Candida home alone, but, obviously, Barnaby and she couldn't take the other girl everywhere with them.

Beulah was wondering how, when Barnaby proposed marriage and she accepted him, she was going to break the news to Candida.

Two nights later Beulah delivered a half dozen fowl to the village church for its semi-annual supper, and was returning home earlier than she was expected. Lights were on in the front room and through the window she saw Barnaby holding Candida in his arms, kissing her.

Beulah was furious. She stormed into the house. Candida tried to be calm and explain that she and Barnaby had loved each other all along. They hadn't had the courage to tell Beulah.

"You— you vixen!" Beulah shrieked.

A week passed. The girls went about their duties without speaking. Both knew that sooner or later they would have to come to some agreement about the farm.

So in the end Beulah made arrangements with Lawyer Stearns and one evening the girls set out in the delivery truck for his law office to write the final chapter in their adventure.

They were silent on the drive to town. Even when the car lights went out for no explainable reason neither of them said anything. Silently Beulah got out, lifted the hood, discovered a fuse was blown, and having no spare, tried to produce a makeshift from a hairpin. It began to look as though there was nothing to do but continue on foot, when suddenly the connection was made and the lights flared up.

In the glare of the headlights a man and a woman, evidently having come up in the darkness without knowing of the truck's presence, were standing in close embrace.

The man was Barnaby Xerxes. Nobody said anything for a moment; then Barnaby turned and began walking swiftly away. The girl followed him.

Beulah got into the truck. She started the motor. She looked at Candida. Candida looked at her. "Oh, shucks!" said Beulah presently. "let's go back and milk the cow and call it a day."

"Oh, let's!" cried Candida.

Better Buy Buick!

YOU CAN SEE here how smart it is—don't have to be told that it's the most quickly identified car on the road today.

You probably know that the engine under that broad bonnet is a Fireball straight-eight valve-in-head engine and a lively stepper in any company.

You can check the abundance of its room by the simple expedient of taking the family and trying out its spaciousness at the nearest Buick dealer's—and a very few minutes on the open road will satisfy you that all-coil springing, low-pressure tires and Buick's torque-tube drive really do produce a ride that is matchless for its soft comfort.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

BUT RIGHT NOW, it may be that the money angle is the thing uppermost in your mind, and on that we'd like to make two points:

All our records go to show that this is the most economical Buick ever built. It is easy on gas, on oil, on tires, on upkeep.

And if you choose it with

Dynaflow Drive,* it immediately eliminates all chance of friction-clutch repair and replacement—not to mention greatly reducing rear-axle and transmission maintenance.

Best of all, your initial outlay is a highly favorable one—whatever Buick you buy. For these brawny straight-eights—built rugged and solid for durable service—are priced at a level that makes them a standout buy in any price class.

Yes, better buy a Buick. Your dealer will be glad to demonstrate, glad to work out all the arithmetic of a deal. See him right away and get an order signed.

"We're Getting a New Neighbor"

"Who's joining our community?"

"The Deepfreeze Appliance people! They are building a new refrigerator plant out by Lake Bluff on Skokie Highway."

"Refrigerator plant? I thought Deepfreeze only made home freezers."

"Not on your life! But you're right about one thing. Deepfreeze built the world's first home freezer eleven years ago right here in Lake County. In their North Chicago plant."

"So that's it! They're building in Lake County to be close to the home plant."

"Well, there's more to the story than that. You see, I know the Deepfreeze sales manager. He told me they know from experience they can depend on good, capable employees from the Lake County area. Makes sense, doesn't it?"

"Bet they like working here better than in the city."

"Sure they do. That's another reason for building here. In fact, this fellow from Deepfreeze was selling me on Lake County. Was bragging about the fine transportation facilities. Working close to home. Friendly people. The wonderful climate for bringing up kids. Our schools and churches. And the get-up-and-go spirit around here. And he's right!"

"Say, they'll be hiring a lot of new people, won't they?"

"You bet. About 800, I hear. They're not hiring yet, though. But when they do, they're going to hire people from Lake Bluff, Waukegan—and all the Lake County towns. This means that thousands of dollars will be coming out of the new plant in salaries. That's good for all of us. And you know—Deepfreeze will be a good neighbor. Remember, this is their home."

Library Notes

The Antioch Township Library received a shipment of 400 books from the Illinois State Library this week. These are books for the young people and will be used to supplement the library's own collection of children's books for as long a time as they are needed.

Mrs. Rigby said that although the library owns almost 3000 books in the juvenile department, many children have read all the material available in their age level and subject interests. For this reason, she requested and received the new material necessary to stimulate and sustain interest in reading and will have them at the library on the State Library's indefinite loan plan.

These books may be borrowed on the same terms as our own books. The collection includes such interesting titles as:

Mice, Men and Elephants by Zim, Vast Horizons by Lucas; Celia's Lighthouse by Molloy; Adventure North by Pinkerton; Catch a Falling Star by Robinson; Police! by Floherty; Teen Age Basketball stories; Who's Who in the Zoo; Dancing Star by Malvern.

St. Ignatius' Church will be the sponsoring institution for the Campfire Girls' Troop under the direction of Mrs. Elmer Monnier of Lake Villa. The troop meets on Fridays after school in the parish hall.

SHORT STORY

Tables Turned

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

FLIRTING was second nature with Deborah Bellamy. No one would have guessed, after one glance at her gay, laughing face, after one look into her mocking, tantalizing eyes, that inwardly she was afraid.

Afraid that sometime some one of her victims was going to turn the tables. That is to say, she knew that one day she was going to fall in love with one of the men with whom she flirted. And that, she knew, would be the end. The end to all her gay, reckless happiness. She never dreamed—that this man would prove to be a cowboy, named Lon Fairweather.

Deborah had joined a party who planned a month's vacation at a dude ranch in Wyoming. Lon was the foreman. He was tall, fair, handsome. After one look into his sober blue eyes, Deborah began to lay her snares.

Lon was different, but he was also human. Hence he succumbed to her wiles, just as had the others. The night he told Deborah of his love they were seated on a high boulder overlooking a hemmed-in lake.

Something about the beauty and grandeur of the scene stirred Deborah's soul. She found herself listening to Lon's love-making more soberly than was her custom.

"Oh, Lon," she said a little breathlessly. "Not now..."

She pushed him away and ran up the path toward the ranch house. Once back in her room she faced herself in the mirror and laughed.

In the days that followed Lon persisted in occupying her thoughts. Some what in desperation she cast about for escape. And then a plan came to mind. She'd ask him to come to New York. She'd get him on home ground, compare him with the sort of life she was used to.

The idea seemed a good one and strangely enough Lon agreed to come—in the fall.

FALL CAME, and she planned a party. She invited all those who had been at the Double O Bar that summer.

Lon arrived in due time and called at Deborah's apartment. She was a little taken aback at the ease and grace with which he wore his smart new tuxedo, and in spite of herself she thrilled when he swept her into his arms.

The dinner was set for 8. At 7:30 the guests began to arrive. Lon was surprised when he saw that the men wore chaps and high-heeled boots; that the women were garbed in divided riding skirts and gay-colored blouses.

A butler came to the door and yelled: "Come and get it, cowboy!"

Deborah felt a little uneasy as Lon escorted her to her seat. Her uneasiness grew as he looked slightly puzzled upon discovering there was no silverware at his place save a board-bladed knife. He hesitated, watching in amazement as the other guests picked up their knives, and with suppressed chuckles began to scoop up peas and shove them into their mouths. He watched as they poured coffee from their cups and drank from their saucers.

"I understand," he said, looking directly at Deborah. "And I regret I can't appreciate the humor of the game. You see," he added, "we westerners have had it drilled into by you easterners, that we're to have no manners."

But, he paused and made a perfunctory bow toward Deborah. "Now I know something about what you folks might have known the meaning of horse-with this he carefully placed his knife on the table, pushed back his chair and strode from the room.

"Lon!" she called. "Please come back. It was all my fault. I'm sorry, please!"

Lon was already through the doorway halfway down the stairs. He was on the landing Deborah saw him dashed. There was a terrible sensation inside of her. She knew then that Lon had been the man she was waiting for.

She found herself listening to Lon's love-making a little more soberly than was her custom.

Only One All-Conference
Build Barrington Team

Barrington — The Barrington Bronchos of 1950 will be in quest of their third straight Northwest Conference crown this year. Gone is Coach Paul "Pop" Fry, who organized these powerhouses. Tom Frederick, his successor, faces a tough assignment in attempting to maintain this record.

He loses an array of stars from these two squads. Only one boy remains who played on both these teams, Steve Roake. Gone are such all-conference players as: Guy Armanetti, Chuck Kranz, John McGee, George Hansen, Leon Hick, Jim McNicholas, Ken Shuett, Jim Frey, Chuck Stoller and Harry Foreman. To replace these boys, Frederick must depend largely on new material up from a good 1949 Frosh-Soph squad. Time will tell if the Bronchos can maintain their record-setting pace.

Thunder

Thunder cannot be heard more than about 18 miles. Sounds of artillery fire carry much farther.

Ski Clubs

Ski clubs were organized, and exciting exhibits and contests were held in snow-favored northeast and western states during the 1880's. By the early 1900's, the sport's devotees had formed the National Ski association, an organization whose member clubs now approach the 500 mark.

Steel's Role in War

Although in medieval times knights wore suits of armor for protection, steel has played an even greater role in modern warfare by protecting the lives of soldiers with such diversified uses as flak vests, helmets, leg armor and protective steel shields for other parts of the body.

SHORT STORY

Wind For The Mills

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT WAS THE FAMOUS wind storm of 1935 which lasted three days and which nearly devastated the town of Mapleridge that gave Silas Kent the idea of selling his windmill to the town. The heavy gales practically ruined the mill as a useful farm appliance, a fact which was, actually, unimportant, as Silas had installed town water three years before. But it gave him the idea nevertheless; it was either a matter of paying to have the thing repaired, or sell it, and as Silas was a hard-shelled old New England Yankee of the first water, the idea of paying for anything went against the grain.

He waited a month and then dropped over to his neighbor, Asa Gardner.

"How's that?" said Asa, regarding Silas in astonishment. "Sell the town that rickety old windmill? Sell it? Why, you blasted old highway robber! It's a wonder we ain't got out an injunction agin you long go fer defacin' the landscape."

Si reddened to his ears. "Rickety old windmill! You callin' my windmill rickety? Dang you, Asa, you're plumb onromantic and onsentimental! It's a heirloom! It's the oldest danged windmill in the hull country!"

"It's time it was torn down and drug off then," said Asa. "It's cluttering up the scenery."

The next day Si went down town and tackled other prominent citizens. But he was too late. Asa Gardner had, apparently, thought Si's idea about the best joke he'd heard in years, and had proceeded to let every one in on it. Worst of all, Mapleridge's citizenry saw eye to eye with the selectman.

Si came home in a rage. He was serious in his idea about erecting the windmill on the village green. Why, they were even talking about getting a court order to make him tear it down. If they succeeded it would cost him some money. The thought was gripping.

It is necessary to note that coincidence played a big part in the events that transpired during the next week. For it was coincidence, most assuredly, that caused J. Allen Brown, philanthropist, public-spirited citizen of Boston, Mass., to pen the letter that set all Mapleridge agog. The letter was directed to S. Kent. He opened it in the postoffice, with half a dozen curious citizens standing idly by.

Within an hour every resident of Mapleridge knew that the great J. Allen Brown had spotted Si Kent's windmill, and wanted to buy it for $1500 to add to a collection of American relics he was making.

IT TOOK MAPLERIDGE about a half day to grasp the significance of all this, and then things began to happen. A special town meeting was held. Speeches were made to the effect that Si Kent's windmill was certainly a landmark and it would be a shame to have it moved off to some museum. Why, Si himself had suggested erecting it on the village green. And wasn't that a good idea? You bet it was!

"How's that?" said Asa, regarding Si in astonishment. "Sell the town that rickety old windmill?"

A committee was appointed to see Si the very next morning. "What?" said Si. "Give you my windmill? After the way you talked? Dang you, get offin my property! Git offin it afore I have you throwed off!"

The committee withdrew to the sidewalk and consulted.

Presently they returned. Bert Englewood, a lawyer who was considered quite an orator, made a speech. He wound up by offering $2000 cash for the windmill, and Si weakened.

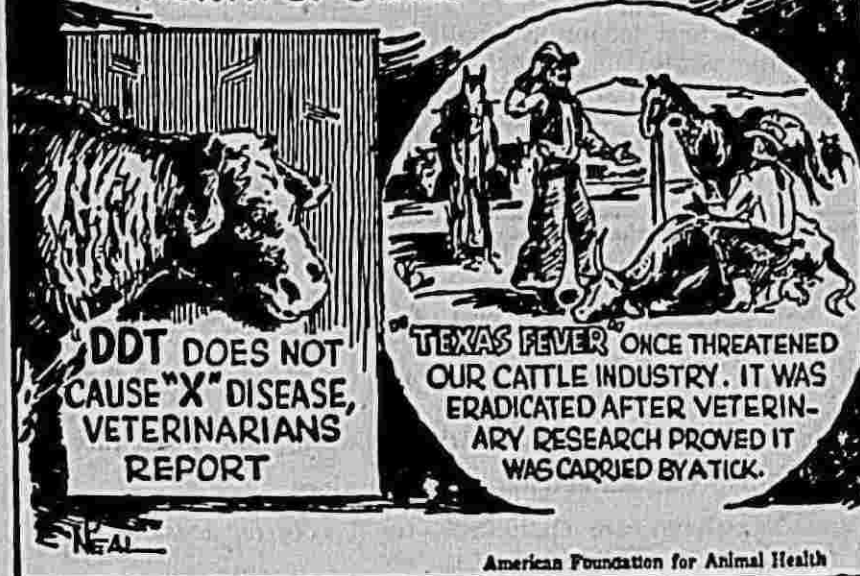

Triumphantly the committee withdrew and Si went back into his house. He closed the door and began to laugh, which was almost a phenomenon. Sara, his wife, looked at him in astonishment, and Si said:

"It's nothing, Sara, nothin'. Only it's a lucky thing for me them folks didn't insist on me showin' 'em that letter from J. Allen. Why, there wasn't nothin on it but a lot of scribbles. I done myself."

Egg Outlook

Fewer chickens will be raised on farms in 1950 than in 1949. Nevertheless, egg and chicken meat supplies will remain adequate. Egg production in 1950 is likely to exceed the record of 1944 while the smaller laying flock anticipated for 1951 will not reduce output of eggs enough to affect civilian consumption adversely.

"Gentlemen" Snakes

Rattlesnakes are the "gentlemen" of the reptile tribe, according to Arizona sheep herders who frequently encounter them on mountain trails. They strike only with some provocation and always give fair warning.

SHORT STORY

Detective Peters

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

ORION DIDN'T look like a detective. He realized this for a fact when the girl with the chestnut brown hair came up and spoke to him.

"You're Orion Peters, aren't you? Mrs. Keith told me. I'm June Ingalls. It's going to be a gorgeous wedding, don't you think? Have you seen the swimming pool yet?"

Orion knew at once because of her easy informality she had mistaken him for one of the guests. And suddenly he decided to go on with the game.

"Hello," he said cheerfully. "It's nice to see you again. No, I haven't seen the pool. Is it new? Shall we go look at it together?"

They went and looked at it. In fact they swam in it.

They stayed near the pool for almost two hours. At the end of that time Orion came to two decisions. First, he decided that the girl was the loveliest, most beautiful creature he'd ever known. Second, he decided he was a fool. At first this business of pretending to be a guest smacked of a lark. Now it was different. He was falling in love.

He went back to his room and changed into his tux. He'd have to go down and keep his eyes on things and avoid June Ingalls, if he could.

He took up a station within observation distance of the table where the gifts were placed and acted as much like a guest as he knew how. June was not among the crowd that milled around the living room. He was convincing himself that he was glad of this, when a feminine voice behind him said:

"Why, Mr. Peters, you're standing here like a statue. I mean, shouldn't we dance, or something?" "I'm dreadfully sorry," he said. "I hurt my ankle in the pool this afternoon. I'm afraid dancing's out for me."

"Oh, how wretched! Is there anything I can do? I mean, oughtn't you to see a doctor, or something?"

JUST THEN Orion's desperate glance fell on the table where lay the gifts. There was a man standing at one end talking to a woman. The woman had a fan, which she maneuvered skillfully. Behind its ruffled folds the man to whom she was talking suddenly darted out a hand, scooped up something on the table, and thrust it beneath the tails of his coat.

Orion came back to earth with a jolt. He started toward the man, who was moving through the crowd toward the terrace door. He caught up with the fellow just as they got outside and fell into step beside him.

"All right," said Orion when they reached the end of the terrace.

Orion decided that the girl was the loveliest, most beautiful creature he'd ever known.

"Take it easy and you won't get hurt. You're under arrest."

The man looked at him quickly. Orion didn't have time to lift his arms in defense. Something struck him a terrible blow on the head. He swayed, caught himself, glimpsed the thief racing down the steps.

Orion anticipated the direction of the man he was chasing by leaping the fish pond and making a flying tackle at the fellow's legs. They went down in a heap.

When he opened his eyes there was a crowd of people around. He heard snatches of conversation and guessed that the thief had been captured and everybody thought that he, Orion, was quite a hero. Then he knew that his head was pillowed on something soft. He saw a face bending over him.

"Well, that settles it, I guess," he grinned. "Now you know. But I'm not really a detective. I go to law school nights and detect days and week-ends."

"It doesn't make a particle of difference," June told him. "I'm Mrs. Keith's secretary. She asked me to see that you were looked out for. Can I help it if you thought I was a guest? And now that you know the truth, I suppose you don't like me any more?"

"Suppose," said Orion, "you let me ask a question?"

She agreed and he asked it and she blushed as she said, "yes."

Farmer's Question Corner

American Foundation For Animal Health

Anaplasmosis—Cattle Killer

QUESTION: What is this strange-sounding disease "anaplasmosis", and how serious is it?

ANSWER: A blood disease of cattle which is spreading slowly throughout the country. Veterinarians say it's the third most costly cattle disease in America.

QUESTION: How does it affect cattle?

ANSWER: The heart beats faster, the skin may get yellowish, milk production falls off; the animal gets listless and loses weight rapidly. A laboratory blood test often shows the dot-like parasite in red blood cells.

QUESTION: What causes anaplasmosis?

ANSWER: A tiny parasite which is sometimes carried by flies, mosquitoes and ticks. Anaplasmosis may also be spread by unsterilized vaccination needles and dehorning instruments.

When the infection is well established it destroys red blood cells.

QUESTION: Do cattle die from it?

ANSWER: Yes. From one-fifth to one-third of the infected animals die. The ones that don't die remain carriers of the disease parasites.

QUESTION: What should the owner do with cattle that recover?

ANSWER: Usually, because recovered animals are carriers, it's best to fatten them, and send them to market, but that depends upon the local disease conditions.

The meat and milk from these animals is safe for human consumption.

QUESTION: Is it a summertime disease?

ANSWER: Usually, although it may appear during the winter in regions with mild climates. Also, it is mostly a disease of mature animals; young calves seldom get it.

QUESTION: Is there a vaccine available?

ANSWER: No, but research veterinarians are attempting to develop one. Also, they are using several drugs for treating the disease, but they have not yet found one that is entirely satisfactory. Many infected animals can be saved, however, if treatment is started soon enough.

NOTE—Due to space limitations, general questions cannot be handled by this column.

Television in Chicago

A survey of television in the Chicago area, made by a class of Northwestern university students, indicates that the average TV owner views his set more than three hours a day. The students interviewed more than 1,000 persons at random at 75 locations in Chicago and its suburbs. Thirty-five per cent of the persons interviewed owned television sets.

Wild Onions

Preliminary findings indicate that control of wild onions may be possible in certain areas with malleic hydrazide, a chemical new in weed research, says the U.S. department of agriculture.

"Tom Thumb"

In 1830, the first locomotive built in the United States to pull passengers puffed 13 miles over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. It weighed six tons and was called the Tom Thumb.

How to Roast Corn

Here's the way to roast corn. Turn back the husks and strip off the silk. Lay the husks back in position. Line up the ears on your backyard grill, over hot coals. Keep turning ears for 15 or 20 minutes, until husks are dry and browned. Break off the husks and the corn is ready to eat. Put out plenty of butter and big salt and pepper shakers.

Buildings Outnumber People

Portsmouth, on the Outer Banks of North Carolina, has more buildings than people. Once a thriving town of 1,000, and North Carolina's first port of entry, Portsmouth's population is now 18. Fishing and hunting are its industries.

Forest Fires

The number of forest fires in the United States increased approximately 11 per cent during 1949, but the total acreage burned was less than that swept by fire in 1948.

The curtains had shrunk—and guests were coming!

That was the household crisis facing Mrs. Victor Yablong of Chicago.

She had washed the curtains because she wanted everything at its best. But her heart sank when she rehung them. They were inches too short!

"With so much to do and so little time," Mrs. Yablong says, "I was feeling mighty blue."

"Then, I reached for my telephone."

"I called the personal shopping service of a department store, and they sent me some new curtains, just like I wanted—and in time for the party!"

No doubt this is one reason Mrs. Yablong agrees that telephone service is a big bargain for busy housekeepers.

Lions Club Will Hold Annual Golf Tourney

Members of the Antioch Lions club will have their annual golf tournament Monday afternoon at the Chain O' Lakes golf course. Play will start at 1 p. m. and there will be prizes for the best scores. A dinner meeting will follow at the club house.

Information on Date Of Light Installation Promised This Week

Roy T. Hyre head of the electric company that successfully bid on the new lighting system for downtown Antioch, told officials of the Lions club he would be able to tell this weekend just when he would install the lights.

Hyre at the time of the letting of the contract said that he would have the lights installed in six weeks at the latest, and he intended to complete the job within 30 days.

A problem of getting poles has arisen, it is said.

Firemen Needed at G. Lakes

Firemen of the stationary boiler kind are needed at Great Lakes where the job pay is $1.36 an hour for a 40-hour week. The activity in Korea accounts for the vacancies. Applications for the jobs are to be filed with the recorder of the U. S. Civil Service examiners at the U. S. Training center.

Thesz to Defend Title In Match With Palmer At Waukegan Saturday

Louis Thesz, NWA heavyweight champion of the world, will face one of his toughest tests Saturday night in the Waukegan High school gymnasium when he takes on Walter Palmer in the two out of three falls, sixty minute wind-up of Promoter Fred Kohler's all star mat card. As in the past the card will be sponsored by the Waukegan Moose Lodge.

Thesz won the title-belt on June 20, 1948 when he defeated "Wild Bill" Longson in Indianapolis, Ind. Since that date he has successfully defended it over 150 times. In June and July he thrilled thousands of mat fans in Chicago's Wrigley Field by downing Nature Boy Buddy Rogers and Gorgeous George in sensational fashion.

The 34 year old Missourian began wrestling when just a boy under the watchful eye of his father, a former professional grappler.

In tackling Palmer Thesz faces one of the most capable matmen in the nation.

For the semi-windup Promoter Kohler has signed Billy Goetz and Gypsy Joe. You may remember that the Globetrotting Gypsy won Goetz's junior heavyweight title-belt several months ago and then lost it to Johnny Balbo. Since then Goetz bested Balbo, and the Gypsy is out to get the belt back. He has just returned from a triumphant tour of Oregon, Utah, Washington and Idaho and as always will be accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Gypsy Joe.

Hans and Fritz Schnabel will attempt blitz tactics when they meet Jack Carter and Joe Millich in an Australian tag team match. The Germans from California have been annihilating all opposition since their return from the coast, but Millich and Carter expect to throw a few surprises at the Teutons.

SHORT STORY

Harmonious Union

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT WAS incredible that Tony and Leah Cranston should have quarreled over so small a thing. The neighbors would have been horrified, for the neighbors thought no two people were more ideally suited.

The neighbors were right, too. Tony and Leah were harmoniously united. They were deeply in love. There was perfect understanding between them.

Then one day Tony came home from work and went into the bedroom to freshen up for dinner and found two five dollar bills and some change lying on the bureau. He scooped up the money.

"Hey," he said good naturedly, "we can't afford this. I found this money lying on the bureau. It might have blown away. Don't be so forgetful!"

Leah smiled. "Oh, my!" she said. "Did I leave the change from the grocer there?"

A week later Tony discovered a dollar bill where it had been idly dropped on the living room table and forgotten.

"Listen, honey, you've got to be more careful. Money is pretty important to us right now."

"I'm sorry," said Leah, "but it's only a dollar."

"We can't afford to lose a dollar or even a part of a dollar," Tony said, smiling.

The next time—the time Tony discovered three dollars on the kitchen table and one on the floor, where it had blown—he didn't smile.

"Good gosh, woman! Show a little more consideration, will you! If I hadn't noticed that dollar on the floor it would have been lost."

"Darling," she said altogether too precisely, "I've never lost a penny of our money."

"How do you know," asked Tony, a bit smugly.

"Because," said Leah, just as smugly, "I can account for every dime you've ever given me."

"Ha!" said Tony. "Let's see you!"

So Leah got a pencil and paper—and sat down and figured out her expenditures, to the last penny.

"Well," said Tony, "that doesn't mean you won't lose some if you continue to be careless. After it's gone—well, you've heard the crack about locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen."

"I've heard," said Leah icily, "a lot of cracks."

SUDDENLY it occurred to Tony that this was their first major crisis. Somehow he'd have to break Leah of her habit without a quarrel.

It was the next Saturday noon when he came home from work that Tony discovered three ones and a two-dollar bill on the bureau where it had been absent dropped by Leah while she rescued the roast.

That afternoon Tony went from burning. Furtively Tony scooped up the money and stuck it in his pants pocket. Sooner or later Leah would discover it was missing. She'd become concerned. She'd ask him to help hunt. He'd make a pretense of hunting and then pretend to find the money where it had blown into the bathroom.

That afternoon Tony went playing golf. All the while he was gone, while he was in the locker room and on the course and later in the showers, he kept thinking of Leah hunting for the missing money.

He came home an hour earlier than he had planned. The moment he saw Leah's face he knew she had discovered the loss.

"Darling, I laid some money on the bureau. Have you seen it?"

"It must have blown off," said Tony. "Boy, I hope we can find it!"

His face wore a look of grave concern as he began hunting. "We can't afford to lose a cent," he kept saying.

Tony waited until Leah looked as though she were on the point of bursting into tears, remembering she had been saving for a new hat and knowing she couldn't have it unless they found the money. Then he ambled into the bathroom, and, chuckling to himself, reached into his pocket.

A startled look came to his face. He reached into his other pockets. They were all empty.

Organic Soil Builders Will Meet Sunday Night At Libertyville Post Hall

The Organic Soil Builders of Lake County, will hold a county-wide meeting at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the American Legion hall on Milwaukee avenue, in Libertyville.

The hall is at the north end of the business district across from the movie theater and south of the railroad tracks on the west side of the street.

The speaker of the evening will be Mrs. H. W. Mitchell of LaGrange who will talk on organic methods that are suitable both for the smaller suburban area with suggestions of proper methods which will give satisfactory results without incurring the ire of too close neighbors and for larger areas as well.

Mrs. Mitchell makes as many as six piles of compost a year and apparently has a very well-organized system. She not only makes compost but she enjoys talking about it and has given talks in various communities including a talk this past June to the Barrington Garden club.

Clare Lundy of Gurnee will be in charge of showing two reels of colored movies on the making of compost, sent by Dr. Eyster.

Anyone interested in the use of organic materials and methods is welcome. For further information, call Mrs. Rose Kindeln, Antioch 107-W-2.
